Something goes wrong, something goes right
And it either punishes or stroke our pride
We never stop to think how much we lose
When we pick and choose
In our solitude.

Something comes up, something goes down
Suddenly you feel you're being pushed around
And just because you feel you're losing hold
You try to take control
The story's very old.
But if we ever get our minds made up
All we have to do is love enough
Won't be long before it comes to you Give it love enough to pull it through
All you need is love enough.

There are places I remember
In my life,
Though some have changed,
Some forever, not for better,
Some have gone and some remain.
All these places have their moments
With lovers and friends, I still can recall,
Some are dead and some are living,
In my life, I've loved them all.
